nexicon is the inevitable clash of members of navicon torture technologies and fragment king, joining forces for a series of session recordings and live events. the brutal metallic quality of the now legendary nexicon performance in new york city sparked the further development of the combine project, which released 2 disintegrating pieces on the nex010 12" [simple things are often monstrous] and a compilation piece for the infamous belorussian industrial punk label invasion wreck chords.

"life emitting diode" is an experimental stomping ground between the atonal relentlessness of ntt and the low-end beat rumbling of fragment king - ranging from introspective, mysterious, threatening to bludgeoning, exploding and harsh: "we are nexicon."
